There are always alternative choices to the regular scheduled daily activities, examples: the alternative group may go to Rifle falls or a field trip to another state park. The library is a frequent choice as well as the animal shelter; there is also (weather permitting) a field trip day where individuals may visit places such as challenge aspen, the grand mesa, Redstone tours, grizzly creek, Betty ford gardens, Redstone-the opportunities are pretty numerous and there is always something new or different to participate in.

Day program also conducts monthly client meetings where staff find out what activities folks would like to do that are perhaps not being currently offered.

All outings are of course subject to change based on staffing numbers, weather and day-to-day changes

Community activities are based on seasons with more indoor activities during winter months
